Streamlined Payment Processing

Sapiens CheckPro solution provides a streamlined, highly secure method of delivering both electronic payments and printed checks wherever and whenever needed. Built with Microsoft .NET technology, CheckPro can be integrated with many Sapiens solutions, including financial (GL/AP), claims management and others.

Business Benefits

The ability to direct all payment generation through one system maximizes your investment and improves overall staff productivity. CheckPro accepts payment data from payroll, accounts payable, claims and other source systems, then generates the desired form of payment. You gain streamlined overall reconciliation, reporting and cash management activities.

Sapiens CheckPro allows fast, secure distribution of payments. The remote printing capability enables you to distribute disbursements from central systems to outlying offices, reducing overnight shipments and onsite petty cash.

Security

Easy distribution makes Sapiens CheckPro convenient and multi-level security renders it safe to use. Encryption of CheckPro's check form templates, graphics and signatures prevent them from being used with any other payment system. Authorization data is encrypted and all communication between clients and the server is encrypted to prevent interception.

Key Features Include:

Imaging

Sapiens CheckPro's imaging capabilities allow you to store a snapshot of each payment transaction. Most banks provide images of presented documents. When these are compared to the images stored in CheckPro, check fraud can be detected quickly within 24 hours.

Electronic Payments

Many businesses are shifting payment transactions from printed checks to the convenience of EFTs. Sapiens CheckPro accepts electronic payment information from your source systems and creates the electronic funds transfer file to meet your bank's specifications. The universal NACHA file format is easily applied.

Intelligent Mail Barcode

CheckPro supports printing the U.S. Postal Service Intelligent Mail barcode. This is the 65-bar barcode used to sort and track mail.

MICR Printing

The Magnetic Ink Character Recognition (MICR) line required for negotiable check documents is printed together with the check data, signature and logo. CheckPro is compatible with many common desktop printers.

Automated Scheduling

The Task Scheduler allows for scheduling check file imports and printing. It also supports positive pay and check status exports.

Remote Printing

All remote functions are set up once and modified only when a check form or bank account is added or changed, allowing for quick response to valid disbursement requests.

CheckPro works with any printer that uses a Windows® PCL printer driver. It supports a variety of printer configurations and can allocate jobs to multiple printers and trays when you need to distribute production.

Checks can be viewed online anytime. View the regenerated print preview, or a stored check image. Check history is stored in the relational database for reporting and analysis, and history can be archived to optimize performance.

Easy Navigation

Clear instructions lead users through each business process, and visually organized windows make it easy to choose your next step.

Pop-up, task-oriented Help is available to guide you through new and infrequently-used processes. Wizards assist with multi-step setups and processes, improving workflow and user efficiency.

System Configuration & Implementation

Sapiens CheckPro consists of two components: application and client software. A server houses the application software, as well as confidential information: check design, bank account specifics and payment transactions. The client software resides on one or more network PCs. CheckPro's .Net architecture makes client-to-server communication flexible and firewall friendly.

System Implementation

Sapiens customer support staff can design a custom check form, based on the information extracted from your payment source systems. This service includes scanned logos and signatures.

To help ensure a smooth conversion, training is offered at your location. In most cases, your new checks will be aligned and formatted to pass bank standards by the time your Sapiens implementation specialist completes the training.
